

Dear FCC,

PLEASE, PLEASE don't even THINK of weakening New Jersey's Do Not Call List!!! It is SO NICE to have dinner with the family without interrupting phone calls from telemarketers!!!

Before this list was in place, our only recourse was to ask for the caller's supervisor or manager and ask that person to be taken off their call list. Well, one aggressive newspaper whose representatives called us regularly each week got smart and must have told their telemarketers to hang up if a supervisor was requested. Every time we asked for their supervisor, the telemarketer hung up and sure enough, we continued to receive those calls...UNTIL the do not call list was put into effect. Now we no longer receive these and other telemarketing calls.

Let advertisers use other media to reach potential buyers. Invading our home by phone is NOT the way to reach us! This is one of the FEW laws that positively affects regular people like us. Please let us keep it in peace (real peace).

Thank you,
Susan Lydzinski
